

Thank You Donors

We are so grateful for the support we have received from the following organizations.

Autistically Inclined is committed to creating family programming and training opportunities for organizations, including Teva Community, Idyllwild Pines, The Autism & Communication Center at CLU, and Communication For Education. We offer ongoing support to families world-wide.

Idyllwild Pines is so excited to be partnering with both Autistically Inclined and Teva Community for this year's Family Spellers Camps. On top of these camps, we are prayerfully moving towards the creation of a full-time sensory lab that would be staffed with a professional year-round. Our hope is to support parents and spellers, both locally and those from far away, by providing weekday stays, with professional communication support opportunities. Our big dream is to eventually build a massive lodge which would include suite-style housing, live-in professionals and fully integrated spelling and sensory lab which would allow us to serve families on an even greater scale!

At Teva Community, we envision a world where all nonspeaking people are listened to, valued and fully included in all aspects of society. We are a small nonprofit creating safe, supported living for nonspeaking autistic people on 35 acres of beautiful national forest, just five miles from downtown Prescott, Arizona. In addition to housing, Teva Community will run entrepreneurial and day programs for residents and local autistic adults, and training programs for direct support providers. Most importantly, based on input from nonspeaking autistics themselves, we believe we can create an environment that they need, want and deserve — one that's positive, empowering, centered on human rights and dignity, with pathways to meaningful careers, increased confidence, autonomy, growth, self-expression and joy.

Communication For Education is a training program for parents or staff who support students using text-based multimodal communication in educational settings. Some training used at Spellers Family Camp comes from the Communication For Education course materials.
